HIT BY TRAIN.

Colored Man's Narrow Escape From Instant Death.

Singular Accident Happens Near Kennedy, on the C. & G. Division of the L. & N.

Dave Evans, an aged colored man of Kennedy, this county, was hit by an L. & N. train on the Clarksville and Gracey division Tuesday morning and pretty badly bruised. Evans was returning from Clarksville and got off the train at Glenellen. He started up the track, intending to walk home from that station. The crew had some work to do at Glenellen and when the train pulled out Evans had gotten some distance from the station. He failed to get off the track until the train was almost upon him, notwithstanding the fact that the engineer sounded the whistle repeatedly, and when he stepped from between the rails he staggered back and was hit by the bumper of the engine.

The train was stopped and Evans was carried to Kennedy, where his injuries are being looked after by a physician.

His side was bruised and one of his wrists was sprained.

It is not thought that his injuries will prove very serious.

Evans carried in his hand a bottle of whiskey wrapped in a paper bag and strange to say the flask was not broken.

TOOK FRENCH LEAVE.

A Patient in the Asylum Leaves For Home.

Dr. W. A. Lackey, assistant physician, arrived in the city Tuesday night after Walter Brooks, an escaped lunatic, from the Hopkinsville asylum. Young Brooks, who is only about 22 years old, was sent to the asylum on May 19. He had been of unsound mind for about four years and was gradually growing worse. He is troubled with dilation of the esophagus, failure to get food into the stomach. He escaped from the guard who had him out working and made his way back home near Wingo. Mr. M. C. Rhodes brought Brooks to this city and Dr. Lackey took his patient back to Hopkinsville last night.—Mayfield Monitor.

LOWER GRADES

Of the Weed a Shade Easier This Week.

The local tobacco market this week was irregular on all grades, the lower kinds being a shade easier than last week. The receipts are decreasing each week, as the bulk of the weed has been delivered. Sales amounted to about 500 hogheads. On good tobacco prices of last week prevailed.

CORONATION OFF.

King Edward Stricken With a Form of Appendicitis.

Operation Tuesday Only Hope of Prolonging His Life.

King's Condition Hopeful.

London, June 26.—The condition of King Edwards, an hour after the the position of the last official bulletin, last night, was reported to be satisfactory, the royal patient showing decided improvement. He was able to take nourishment, and is said to have opened several telegrams with his own hands. An absence of complications following the operation of Tuesday is said to have created hopefulness among those about the King.

In spite of the reports coming from Buckingham Palace, Mr. W. T. Stead, the London journalist, declares the King's death is counted on as a certainty.

Coronation Postponed.

London, June 24.—With dramatic suddenness the king has been stricken down upon the eve of his coronation. To-night he lies in a critical state at Buckingham Palace.

Indescribable consternation prevails throughout the country, and this consternation is reflected in the cablegrams received from all the centers of the universe.

The coronation has been indefinitely postponed.

It is officially announced that the king is suffering from perityphlitis, for which he underwent an operation at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The operation was performed successfully by Sir Frederick Treves, who correctly diagnosed the complaint and is a specialist in abdominal operations.

King Edwards has for weeks been haunted with a superstitious fear, engendered by several prophecies to the effect that he would never be crowned.

Reports have been current in London that the king has been much depressed over these prophecies, and at times has appeared moody and morose. It is said that he was apprehensive that he would never see his coronation day.

There is an old story that at the time of Edward's birth a prophecy was made which ran:

"King shall Edward be, but never shall he be crowned."

Prophecy by Cheiro.

Another prophecy of a like foreboding nature was made early in the present year by Cheiro, the Parisian palmist, who predicted the death of Queen Victoria six months before it occurred. Cheiro said:

"The new king, near the months of May or June this year, will be in serious danger of his life."

Companies have been demanding a premium of 20 per cent on policies insuring the coronation within a month.

June 26, the date King Edward selected for his coronation, is the date originally fixed for the crowning of Queen Victoria in 1838. The young Queen, however, insisted upon changing it to June 28, because June 26 was the anniversary of the death of George IV.

THE FUTURE GEORGE V.

Characteristics of Heir Apparent To the Throne.

George Frederick Earnest Albert, Prince of Wales, who will become sovereign of the British Empire in the event of the death of Edward VII, is the second son of the present King. He was born June 3, 1865, and has lately passed his 37th birthday. He is a sailor by occupation.

The sudden death of the elder brother during the pneumonia and influenza epidemic of 1892, made Prince George the heir presumptive to the throne. He was declared Duke of York and forsook active service in the navy.

As heir presumptive it became highly important that a suitable marriage should be made for Prince George. His engagement to Princess Mary of Teck, his deceased brother's fiancée, a match made for him by his grandmother, Queen Victoria, was announced in May, 1893. On July 6 of the same year the royal pair were married.

The heir apparent to the throne, in the event of the death of King Edward, will be the present heir presumptive, Prince Edward, son and eldest child of the Prince and Princess of Wales, born June 23, 1894, and therefore now just 8 years old. Next to this child in the order of succession is his brother, Prince Albert, born Dec. 14, 1895. The third child of the Prince and Princess of Wales is the Princess Victoria Alexandra, born April 25, 1897.

LAFAYETTE BALL

One of Swellest Social Functions of Season.

Messrs. Tom Terry, Fraser Williams, Irwin Fraser and other young society men of Lafayette, gave a grand ball at the Terry place in Lafayette last night. An elegant supper was served, after which dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

Music was furnished by a Clarksville string band.

Several young people from this city attended, and there were also delegations from Clarksville, Dover, and various other towns.

The affair was one of the swellest social functions in South Christian for years and was greatly enjoyed by the large crowd present.

The dedication of the new Cumberland Presbyterian church, set for next Sunday, has been postponed indefinitely, owing to the failure of the factory to have the pews ready.

Read it in His Newspaper.

George Schaub, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volkszeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for 14c, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days, my wife said to me, I feel as though born anew," and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by C. K. Wyle.

Eggs.

The Egyptians saw in the egg an emblem of the restoration of mankind after the deluge, and venerated it accordingly. It often appears in their hieroglyphics.

The Jews found in the eggs a symbol of bondage and wonderful deliverance, and used it as a type of their departure from Egypt and it appeared on the Passover table.

The modern Hebrews still use eggs at the Passover season as an emblem of the rolling fate of Israel. At one time in Greece, philosophers tried to keep people from eating eggs, since they contained all the elements of life. The shell represents the earth; the white, water; the yolk, fire, air was found under the shell, and the germ of life it was a sin to destroy.

Superstitions about eggs were numerous, and were not confined entirely to ancient times; some of them are still prevalent.

Eggs, and especially their shells, have been thought potent aids to witchcraft.

Irish and English nurses once instructed children to push their spoons through the shell of an egg, after eating its contents, "to keep the witches from making a boat of it."

Sir Thomas Brown tells us another reason for breaking the shells, lest the witches should draw or pick their names therein, and thus injure the person who had partaken of the egg.

Eggs laid on holy days were supposed to possess helpful qualities against all ills.

Scotch fishermen think it unlucky to have eggs on board their boats, as they will bring contrary winds.

In many parts of England, eggs are not allowed to leave the house after sunset, for fear of ill luck, and to have them brought in would be equally disastrous.

Perhaps the greatest interest in, and use of, eggs in this country, centers about Easter. The chapter devoted to this subject is a long one, and contains many beautiful sentiments bearing on the use of eggs at this holy festival, which is even more significant than their use at the Jewish Passover.

The most prevalent and characteristic custom of the Easter festival has always been the giving of eggs. Sometimes they are eaten, oftener kept as amulets, or used in playing games.

The Pagan people, at their New Year feasts, presented each other with eggs as a type of the new life of Nature—which they colored to show their joy at the return of Spring.

The contrast between the cold, lifeless egg and the warm, downy chicken full of life and motion, may well have made the former an emblem of the endless life of the soul.

After the Fourth Century the church prohibited the use of eggs as well as of other animal food during Lent, but the hens were heretical enough to keep on laying, and the accumulated eggs were dried for children at Easter.

The Greek church still forbids the use of eggs during Lent, but other churches allow their use during the Lenten feast.

A sermon preached in England in 1570 mentions that certain ones on Good Friday "offered unto Christ Eggs and Bacon to be in his favor till Easter Day was past."

An entry among the household expenses of Edward I. of England, of 18 gence for 400 eggs for Easter, shows the observance of the custom at that period, and the extreme cheapness of eggs.

In certain parts of England, eggs rose in price at this time.

It was once customary, in Scotland to search for wild fowls' eggs on Easter morning for good luck.

Easter is to the Russians what Christmas is to the Germans. It is the day of all the year for family gatherings, and is, if possible, celebrated in new garments.

In Poland, Lent is rigidly observed, and at its close, animal food is partaken of with great solemnity.

In France, hens' nests were formerly ransacked for the largest eggs for an Easter tribute to the King. The priests used to go from house to house, leaving their blessings, and receiving eggs enough to last for many weeks.

At the pagan New York festivals many games were played with eggs, and some of them still survive.

Many children in days past have matched their eggs or rolled them over the green grass lots in the grounds of the White House at Washington.

Probably the Easter eggs were first boiled hard for safety in these games of matching.

Travelers in Mexico give accounts of an egg game and dance existing there.

Eggs in Literature, show what an important part they have played from the earliest times to the present. Among writers of all ages, the egg has been a favorite illustration.

The fables of the women who killed the hen (?) that laid golden eggs, and of the milkmaid counting her chickens before they were hatched or before she had exchanged her milk for eggs, are full of sound philosophy.

It will move forward in development. It will probably improve in shape and other characteristics. There is reason to believe that we shall have as recognized varieties in the future the present red variety, deepened and enriched in color; a glossy black variety, a blue variety, a white variety, a buff variety, and possibly a variety marked with white, perhaps with four white feet and a white place in the face. Unless there are a number of varieties to meet the different tastes there will not be so keen an interest in the hare as there would be otherwise. These different varieties will probably differ in popularity, some being more popular than others, and it is my belief that the red will continue to be the most popular of all the varieties.—Fanciers' World.

The Author of Mazel.

The author of "Mazel," which promises to be one of the season's literary successes, is a Kentuckian. The book has made a hit, and the first edition was exhausted three weeks ago. "Richard Fisquill," appearing on the title page, was obviously a nom de guerre, and the identity of the writer became known a few days ago as Richard H. Wilson, M. A., Ph. D. Professor of Romance Languages at the University of Virginia. Dr. Wilson is a native of Christian county, Ky., and his father is a prominent planter who lives near Hopkinsville. He was graduated as valedictorian from South Kentucky College and later taught Latin and Greek at that institution, after completing a course at the Johns Hopkins University. He resigned from the faculty to continue his study of languages abroad, spent many years in France, Germany and Spain. In Paris he was married to an accomplished young French woman. They have two children. Dr. Wilson returned to America 3 years ago to become a lecturer at Johns Hopkins. His marked ability soon led to his election to the chair of Romances and languages of the university of Virginia. His success on "Mazel" has caused him to begin work on a more ambitious effort.—Courier-Journal.

Something About Eggs.

It is claimed that one biscuit firm in New York buys four thousand dozen eggs per week, or more than two hundred thousand dozen per year.

Eggs under the ben will range in temperature from 110 degrees for those on the outside to 105 degrees for those in the centre of the bench. The hen shifts the eggs from the centre to the sides, besides turning them over once or twice a day.—Ex.

HEALTH OR WEALTH

The gleaner is unknown in this country. But in the countries of Europe, where poverty holds so many in its grip, the gleaners still crawl across the fields with bent backs, laboriously gathering the scattered single ears of grain. One looks at those bowed figures with pity. But meet the gleaner as she carries her sheaf home, and you cannot pity her. She is the picture of superb health, and the ringing laugh and swinging stride tell of happiness and health linked together. Many a wealthy woman listlessly journeying through Europe envies the gleaner her health, and would gladly buy it of her. But what woman if she could would sell her health? What woman would deliberately stoop her back to a burden of pain and willingly submit to a crown of sorrows?

But if health itself is not a marketable commodity, the means of health is purchasable. A woman does not have to be wealthy to be well. Health—abundant, vigorous, perfect health—is within the reach of forty-nine out of fifty women who suffer from headache, backache, nervousness or female weakness. The loss of general health in woman may generally be traced to womanly ill-health—to diseases of the delicate womanly organism, which drain the strength and sap the vitality. These womanly diseases are perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"Please accept my most sincere thanks for your advice and medicine which have done me a world of good," writes Mrs. May Kelley, of Sylvia, Kansas. "In looking over your published testimonials I do not find any case just like mine. For six years I suffered from a peculiar bowel complaint, which was quite different from any I have ever known of. My bowels were sore all the time, and every time I would do a little too much the soreness would increase and hurt me so I could hardly walk straight. If I happened to eat anything that did not just agree with me the effect would be the same. My nerves were so out of order I did not have a good night's sleep for over three years, and for two years I had to sit up in bed about half the night. Was not able to do all my housework for over two years. After three doctors had failed I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I took six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' alternately, then twelve bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' and then one more bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and now feel like a new woman. I can do all my housework. My constitution was so run-down that I took the medicines nearly four weeks before I felt much improvement, except that I could sleep. After that I began to feel the change and improved slowly, but steadily and permanently. The 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the only medicine I ever took for the bowel complaint which did not make me worse instead of better."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It is the best tonic and nerve for the weak, run-down, nervous woman. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep. "Favorite Prescription" cures perfectly and permanently all womanly diseases curable by medicine.

"About four months ago I wrote to you for advice, and you very kindly advised me what to take," writes Mrs. Ida May Chandler, of Sandusky, Ind. "I did as you directed. At the time I was hardly able to be up at all, and what I suffered for four years God alone knows. I was nothing but a walking skeleton, but now I feel like a new woman. I would have written before, but was waiting to see how I would get along. Dear Doctor, I am so thankful to God and to you for your 'Favorite Prescription,' and for the fatherly letter you wrote me. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mrs. Chandler's reference to fatherly advice received from Dr. Pierce offers the suggestion to all other sick women, who are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, that they should take advantage of this offer.

In a little more than thirty years Dr. R. V. Pierce, assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured hundreds of thousands of sick women. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak and sick women.

GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT.

Miss Etta Stark, of Elizabethtown, Writes an Essay on the Subject in a Contest For $200 Prize.

The good roads movement in Kentucky doesn't seem to be confined to men. The women are taking interest in it. One of these has hardly entered womanhood, and yet she is writing on the subject. Recently a New York paper offered a prize of $200 for the best essay on good roads, to be written by any school girl or boy in the United States. Miss Etta Stark, of Elizabethtown, tried her hand with the result that her paper was printed in full, indicating that she is at least a good contestant for the money. Miss Stark's essay was as follows:

Why is it that we find our glorious Bluegrass State so woefully behind many sister States in that greatest of modern improvements, good roads? Some say that this assertion is too strong, but will they tell me another improvement that will do so much for our state? Good roads are necessary for business, pleasure, health, reputation and good name. But they will not come to benefit and bless us, like sunshine and summer breezes, without labor and expense. In no State have good, permanent roads been built without aid and co-operation from the Governor and Legislature. Every one knows that ours is a grand State, with resources almost unlimited; yet, notwithstanding this, we have no system of road working, and are not improving our highways as we should.

The question that now naturally arises, "What is the condition of the field? How near to the harvest time?" Thanks to the untiring work of a few far-seeing men, we have a people who, if not eager for the best are certainly clamorous for better roads. Now, we must have a Legislature which is willing to enact suitable laws, and then comes our golden opportunity to bring Kentucky into the foremost rank.

We admit that during the last few years much money and labor have been expended on our roads, but the improvement has not kept pace with the increased amount of travel, and now they are little better in spring and fall for heavy traffic than they were several years ago. The roads of the State, in fact, though not in name, belong to the State and are for the use and benefit of all people, and not, as many think, for the farmer alone. The rich and poor alike have equal rights in the use of the roads, let them be good or bad. A large portion of the wealth of the State has never contributed to the improvement of the roads, though sharing in all benefits derived from them. With few exceptions, the improvements up to the present time have been made by the farmers, and at their expense alone. They have laid the foundation, in the main, for most of the roads, and now call for aid for the superstructure, to make them such as the wants of the State require. Without aid there is no hope for progress. Shall this aid be granted? We most earnestly ask the men who legislate for us to broaden their views of the needs of the country, if we are to have continued prosperity, and direct money and labor into channels that will permanently improve our roads and bring benefits and blessings to our people.

We think this is an age of progress, but it is a fact that back in the distant ages the Romans had better roads than we have now. Our people should leave no stone unturned to alter this condition, and if our legislators will only give us aid, Kentucky will soon be in advance of the old Romans.

When that time comes, boys will be willing to remain on the farm and girls will become farmer's wives. Every house will have all modern conveniences, and we will be the happy, contented people God intended we should be when He gave us this rich, beautiful heritage.

It is my specialty to fit glasses in such a manner that they relieve the strain perfectly; fitting the eye with spectacles that you can wear with ease and comfort, thus preserving the eye. In examining the eye only the latest and most improved methods and instruments are used.

Physicians especially are invited to call and investigate my methods of correcting errors of refraction. Many cases of headache, neuralgia, nervousness, irritability, insomnia, vertigo, nervous prostration and the seeming stupidity of children are often due to defective vision caused by the abnormal curvature of the cornea or crystalline lens, or to an irregularity of the refracting media of the eye and are relieved by the application of the proper glasses. 90 per cent of the people over 40 years of age need glasses and 50 per cent of the 90 need them for distance.

Glasses are not always given to improve eyesight, but to relieve undue strains—in other words to assist nature. Thousands of eyes are ruined yearly. Seven persons out of ten have neither eyes alike, and one out of twenty Astigmatism, hence the necessity of testing each eye separately. Special attention is given to any inequality that may exist between the refraction of the eyes.

Optical science has made rapid advances within the last few years, the correct adaptation of spectacles has become a distinct profession. The optician who thoroughly understands his business realizes fully that in adjusting the glasses for his customers he is treating with a most delicate and precious organ where the slightest error may result seriously, while, if he does his work well he not only gives comfort and ease to his patrons, but in many instances restores the sight.

Special care should be taken in selecting the first pair of spectacles nor should it be attempted without the aid of a responsible optician. It is most important that the lenses should be accurately centered and of the best quality, and the frames so made that the wearer looks directly through the center. Glasses nicely fitted to the face become an ornament as well as a necessity.

Fitting children with spectacles is a specialty.

Parents, do not neglect your children's eyes.

Difficult cases solicited.

All questions in regard to the eyes are cheerfully answered.

FROWNS, TEARS AND KISSES.

Lost:—A Diary Containing a Girl's Very Dearest Secrets.

"Diary?" shrieked the pretty young lady with flashing eyes as she walked down the avenue with a companion, says London Tit-Bits. "Diary? Don't you ever dare say diary to me again. What do you know about it, Kate?"

"Nothing; only that you told me that you had commenced keeping a diary, as usual, and I supposed you had dropped it at the end of a month, as usual. I didn't mean to throw you into hysterics."

"Kate, don't you ever breathe a word of it, but I've lost that diary; dropped it somewhere on the street. And the plaguy thing had all my dearest secrets in it. I wrote just what I thought, too. It just sends me crazy. There it is in black and white that Lillian looks like a fright, that Hattie is turning green with jealousy, that Charley is just too sweet to live, and that Fred hasn't sense enough to talk more than three minutes unless he rehearses in advance."

"Why don't you advertise and offer a reward?"

"Indeed, I won't. I never want to see the thing again. If anyone returns it I shall declare that it's a forgery from beginning to end. I'll never own up, the longest day I live."

"What did you say about me, Edith?"

"Oh, I don't just remember, but something nice. You can depend on that, for you're my very dearest friend."

"I can help your memory. You wrote that I was the most inquisitive little minx in the city, and that I thought it my special business to look after other people's business. Here's your diary. You left it at our house, and Tommy spelled out your estimate of me before I knew what he was doing. Good afternoon."

Then they looked at each other, both began to cry, fell into each other's arms, and in five minutes were criticising a mutual friend.

AN ENGLISH STORY.

Like Other Stories It Has Two Sides—Price of a Shave.

A man walking through the suburbs of a certain large town, says London Tit-Bits, noticed a barber's pole to which was attached a sign-board with the inscription: "Shaving One Halfpenny."

His chin being rough and his funds low he promptly entered the shop, seated himself in the chair, and asked to be shaved.

The knight of the razor carefully lathered and scraped away at one side of the customer's face, sponged it, and drew the cloth away with the usual flourish.

"But you don't call this finished?" expostulated his victim, keeping his seat.

"Beg pardon, sir, do you want the other side done as well?" said the barber, with a hair oily smile.

"Certainly I do. Do you think I can go out in the street half shaved?" replied the other.

And the barber proceeded to operate on the other side of his customer.

When the job was finished the man, who began to smell a rat, fumbled in his pockets and fished out a halfpenny, which he tendered to the barber.

"Another halfpenny, if you please, sir," said the latter.

"What? You've got on your board outside, 'Shaving a ha'penny'?"

"Very true. But if you will have the goodness to observe, you'll find that that inscription is on each side of the board."

"I know that."

"Very good, sir. There are two sides to my board—and two sides to your face."

"I see," replied the man, with his hand on the door knob; "and, if you will have the goodness to observe that ha'penny, you will find there are two sides to that as well."

Transplanting an Eye.

A doctor in Clinton believes he has succeeded in successfully transplanting a rabbit's eye to a human being. A miner in an explosion entirely lost one eye and the cornea of the other. The cornea of a live rabbit was placed on the partly destroyed eye, and the doctor thinks it will keep alive. It already admits light and relieves the miner of total blindness.—London Tit-Bits.

Of Hopkins county, as a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from the First District, subject to the action of the Democratic convention July 22. County conventions July 19.

Populists and Democrats have again nominated a fusion ticket in Kansas.

The Territorial Statehood Bill has gone over by agreement until Dec. 10.

The House has agreed to accept the Senate Canal bill in favor of the Panama route.

The meeting of the Kentucky Press Association at Owensboro has been postponed till July 21.

The Republicans of the Second appellate district have re-nominated Judge B. L. D. Guffy for Judge of the Court of Appeals.

Swager Shirley makes a fortune; at start in his race for Congress in Louisville. The Post has come out against him.

The Republicans have decided to give McKenize Moss the nomination for Congress again this time in the Third district. For the Democratic nomination, John Rhea is opposed by W. A. Helm, of Butler county.

Josh Griffith's picture is appearing in all of the State papers. Perhaps Josh is trying to take a mean advantage of Gus Richardson and shut him out of the race for State Treasurer on an issue of personal pulchritude. Gus' picture doesn't look pretty in print.

Judge Henry S. Barker, of Louisville, is down for a toast on "Ladies as Litigants" at the bar banquet at Lexington July 3. Judge Barker has been given the wrong subject. He should have been assigned "Pardoning Gamblers Before Trial and My Opinion of Those Who Do It."

In another column appears a card from Hon. John B. Brasher defending himself from a false statement that has been circulated to his prejudice in this county. The if he brings forward is official conclusive and should satisfy who believe in fair play. Let ope that the rest of the contest be conducted, at least in Christian county, on clean lines.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

The Owensboro Inquirer is the first paper that has undertaken to give figures on the congressional race. Its figures make the contest between Taylor and Brasher, with victory assigned to Taylor. Great stress is laid on the fact that Judge Taylor has 4,900 votes to start with in Daviess, and the claim of Senator Hickman that he will get many of these votes is disposed of with the assertion that the county will go for Taylor "nearly unanimously." Another danger to Judge Taylor is that the contest is not animated enough to bring out the full vote. The Inquirer gives Taylor Daviess and Hancock and claims a practical stand-off with Stanley and Brasher in Union. It concedes Christian and Webster to Brasher, and says he will have "a very large majority" in Hopkins. The Inquirer's figures are mostly guesswork, but they show that Judge Taylor's friends have picked upon Brasher as the man the Judge has to beat. A close friend of Mr. Brasher's says he will beat Judge Taylor in six of the eight counties and will get more votes in Hopkins and Webster than Taylor gets in Daviess and Hancock. He claims with great confidence that Brasher will get more than 7,000 votes out of a three-fourths vote of 18,000 in the district, and that his plurality will be about what his vote is in Christian and Henderson counties.

All over the world sympathy is felt for the English people in the sudden and perhaps fatal illness of their sovereign on the eve of his coronation. The conclusion of the South African war had just filled the kingdom with rejoicing and the coronation festivities would have been the most gorgeous ever seen in Europe. It was to be an occasion for bringing together the widely dispersed representatives of a great empire, with visitors present from all the nations of the earth. The disappointment is great to the royal family, to the English people and to other nations as well. King Edward succeeded his mother Jan. 22, 1901. It is to be hoped that he may yet wear the crown of his royal mother, and live out his "expectation," which, according to the life insurance companies, is about ten years.

"The Hustler says its man Brasher, candidate for the Democratic Congressional nomination, 'EATS 'EM ALIVE WHEN HE IS AROUSED.' That being true, the question very naturally suggests itself to the enlightened people of the Second district wish to be represented by a Canibal? Hadn't the Hustler's Canibal better await the admission of the Philippines and go to congress with men of his class?"—Gleaner

The question of Cannibalism is not likely to become an issue in the contest. It is what officials drink, rather than what they eat, that sometimes interferes with their public duties.

Ollie James, who made a speech at the State convention in Nebraska, stirred the Westerners up with his sledge-hammer Kentucky oratory. His address was, in the opinion of the associated press correspondent, one of the finest ever heard in the State.

The Nebraska Democrats and Populists, after two or three attempts, finally found a man to suit both parties for Governor and nominated him on a fusion ticket. W. H. Thompson, a Democrat, is the man who heads the ticket.

London insurance companies holding risks on the postponement of the coronation will suffer heavy losses. Owners of stands and concessions and merchants with special wares carried heavy insurance against this contingency.

Ex-Gov. Robt. Pattison, the only Democrat who has been elected Governor of Pennsylvania since the woods were burned, has been nominated again for the third time in twenty years.

Laurel, Miss., had a lynching Wednesday, by the old-fashioned method of hanging.

STATE TEACHERS.

Annual Convention in Session at Louisville.

Hopkinsville Among the Cities Well Represented—Nearly 1,000 in Attendance.

Lexington, Ky., June 24.—The annual meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association began its sessions at the State College building, in this city, to-day, with an attendance of nearly 1,000, the largest in the history of the association. Among the cities of the state well represented are Paducah, Louisville, Bowling Green, Henderson, Owensboro, Hopkinsville and Frankfort. The gathering was called to order by President H. H. Cherry, of Bowling Green, and the session was given over to addresses of welcome and responses and the transaction of preliminary business. Instead of programs of long papers as has been the case at previous conventions the papers this year are to be limited to 10 minutes each and an increase in general interest is expected to result.

The visiting teachers began arriving yesterday morning and since then each train entering the city brought large crowds of delegates from all parts of the state. The homes of the city have been given over to the visitors and entertainments have been provided for all.

LOOKS A WINNER.

Owensboro Inquirer Makes Rosy Show Down For Taylor.

The election figurers are beginning to get busy on the calculation of chances in the race. Taking the vote for Bryan in 1900 as a basis of calculation, they make some very interesting combinations out of it. The total of that vote was 23,469, distributed among the counties as follows: Christian 3,264; Daviess 4,910; Hancock 989; Henderson 3,937; Hopkins 3,321; McLean 1,453; Union 3,104; Webster, 2,481. Nearly all of the combinations referred to give Taylor the best of it, and in all that can be made he figures close to the top under the most adverse bearing that can be given to the vote. The heavy vote of Daviess county furnishes a big starter. He will get it almost unanimously, and private information received from every county that has a candidate is to the effect the Taylor will get a larger vote than the other candidates can possibly get in Daviess county. In Hancock county he will get twice as many votes as the other candidates put together.

In Union county his friends think that he will get more votes than either Brasher or Stanley, and the followers of those gentlemen admit that Taylor will be right among the running, and say that the vote will be evenly divided. Brasher probably has a little the best of it in Webster, but 100 votes will cover the difference in the three leading candidates, and Taylor's supporters say that by the time of the primary he will be in the lead. Brasher will carry Hopkins by a very large majority of the vote cast, but owing to local complications the vote there will not be as large as in other sections of the district, and there will be a greater proportionate loss to the county candidate. Brasher will get more votes in Christian than any other candidate, but Taylor will still be formidable, and Stanley will get a good vote. McLean will give Hickman a good vote, but the knowledge that he cannot possibly win will hurt him to some extent, as a great many of the voters have a passion for wanting to help decide things, not to say for voting for the winning candidate.

Taken all over, the prediction now seems safe that Taylor will win, and as the race goes on this will develop into a probability so strong that in the last days it will be looked on as a certainty.—Inquirer.

"The Brashers" is the name of a ball team just organized in this city, says the Morganfield Sun. It is composed of some crack-a-jack players and they authorize the publication of the following challenge: "The Brasher ball team of Morganfield has organized for the season and hereby challenges any team in the state that pretends to know how to play ball. In many instances attacks of cholera morbus terminate fatally before medicine can be procured or a physician summoned. The safe way is to keep at hand a reliable medicine for use in such cases. For this purpose there is nothing so sure as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. W. E. Bosworth, of LaFayette, Ala., says: "In June, 1900, I had a serious attack of cholera morbus and one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy gave me relief in fifteen minutes." ## GREAT STORM.

Does $2,000,000 Damage in Central Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 26.—A terrific storm yesterday swept over the northern part of Central Indiana. Two persons are reported killed and 100 were injured. The storm passed across the State, the worst damage being in Hancock county. From there it went northwest through the northern portion of Marion, Hamilton, Boone, Tippecanoe and Madison counties. The loss to crops is placed at $2,000,000, while numbers of factories, stores and other buildings were destroyed. Hundreds of trees and telegraph and telephone poles were blown down.

STATE BANKS.

Frankfort, Ky., June 25.—Of 297 State banks operating in Kentucky 149 will receive a rebate this year from the State under the act of the late legislature to reimburse these institutions for excess of taxes paid under the Hewitt law prior to 1896. The other 148 institutions were organized after the Hewitt law became operative and will this year pay taxes as heretofore. Auditor Coulter today sent out notices to these latter to report and pay.

A HUSTLING CANDIDATE.

Brasher Making Big Inroads in Henderson County.

Hon. John B. Brasher, the Hopkins county candidate for the nomination for congress, was in Corydon and Henderson county again this week interviewing the voters. Mr. Brasher is proving himself to be a hustling candidate. We should judge without doubt that he was the best campaigner of the quartette who are running for the place. He can hold his own in debate on stump and when it comes to "bush whacking" and personal work he easily leads the bunch. When "genial John" strikes a town every man or boy there knows it. When he leaves a town every man has felt his warm clasp and every voter has received his card, smilingly presented. And that smile is a winning one. He can interview more voters in a minute than most candidates. He doesn't let any get away.

He made several visits to our town while no other candidate has been here since the season opened. We know but little of the strength of the candidates but one fact is evident.—The candidate who beats John B. Brasher in the south end of Henderson county will have to get up early in the morning and hustle for votes until late at night.—Corydon Journal.

GRACEY WIPED OUT.

Fire Destroys Nearly the Whole Business Section of the Town.

Losses Will Aggregate $30,000, With But Little Insurance.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE IN DOUBT.

The business section of the thriving little railroad center of Gracey, ten miles west of this city, was swept by a disastrous fire at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon, that left only two business houses standing in the town.

The fire started at the extreme west end of Main street and moved eastward, burning everything on the South side of the street until stopped by the brick building at the east end of the block recently vacated by Miller's Racket store. This building was unoccupied at the time.

The Sufferers.

Beginning at the west end of the block, the sufferers were as follows:

J. M. Francis, building.....	$300
J. M. Francis, personal effects .....	$200
Forbes & Bro., implement stock .....	$1,500
Dr. D. E. Bell, office and medicines .....	$250
Gipp Watkins, building.....	$800
Watkins & Co., stock of implements to be sold on commission.....	$3,000
T. J. Hammond, grocery and saloon, and his son, W. R. Hammond, dry goods store .....	$10,000
T. J. Hammond, two buildings .....	$2,000
McGehee Bros. & Co., stock of general merchandise.....	$9,000
Mrs. H. H. Bryant, building occupied by McGehee.....	$2,000
Same, building occupied by Dr. Bell.....	$400
Dr. G. E. Medley, dental office in Watkins' store.....	$1,000
W. M. Humphries, col., barber shop .....	$250
Mrs. Curt Boyd, goods stored with Watkins .....	$150
Stewart and Krentz.....	$350
Total losses.....	$31,075

So far as known the only insurance was on McGehee Bros. & Co.'s stock, about $5,700. $1,000 on the Hammond stock of liquors, and $1,000 on Mrs. Bryant's building.

Origin of the Fire.

It is supposed the fire started from the explosion of a coal oil stove in J. M. Francis' building, upon which light cooking was done. Some one perhaps turned it low and left it burning in the rear room. At any rate the fire started there and as the Francis building was a frame it burned rapidly and the fire was soon communicated to the adjoining buildings. All of the stores were joined together and being without fire protection, the citizens could only stand by and see the town destroyed.

A blacksmith's shop across the public road, to the south, was also burned from flying shingles. It contained lumber belonging to Wiley Stewart and C. H. Krentz. The building belonged to Krentz, whose loss on building and contents was $100. Stewart's loss was $150. Mr. Krentz also lost about $100 in his woodshop in the rear of the burned district, the goods being smashed up in moving them out.

The frame cottage of Mrs. Culom, across the street, caught on fire, but was saved by prompt work.

The salvage was small in all the stores. Hammond & Son saved more than any of the others, but what goods they got out were in a badly damaged condition. The saloon fixtures were saved.

The postoffice in McGehee's store had just been fitted up anew with lock boxes and new furniture by Postmaster H. C. McGehee. This was saved in good condition.

The stores of T. J. Wall and B. W. Cowherd on the north side of the street were in great danger, but escaped. They caught fire several times, but by using wet blankets and fighting the fire at every turn they were saved.

Mr. T. J. Hammond intended coming to Hopkinsville Tuesday to renew his insurance policy, which had recently been allowed to run out, but put it off until the next day and so was caught without protection. He has been a frequent sufferer from fire. His residence at Gracey was burned last winter and before moving to Gracey he lost a store at Caledonia, Ky.

The vacant store house owned by Mrs. Lizzie Clardy will be occupied by either McGehee or Hammond.

McGehee Bros. own a vacant lot where they were burned out some years ago and they will probably rebuild at once. The head of the firm, Mr. J. W. McGehee, is now in New York, and the matter will not be definitely decided until he returns to the Clarksville headquarters.

The postoffice is temporarily located in Cowherd's drug store.

BRASHER HUSTLING.

Arrives In The County And Is Doing About.

Canvassing In The Country Districts This Week.

Mr. John B. Brasher is canvassing in Christian county this week and is breaking his own record as a hustler from Hustleville.

He is not announcing his itinerary, but you can tell where he has been by the trail of enthusiasm he leaves behind him. He only lingers where he finds opposition and consequently he has not stayed long in any one place.

At Pembroke he found some opposition, Hickman being the contending man there, but this was due largely to a statement in circulation there charging him with trying to put Christian county into a Republican Senatorial District.

He has issued a card in refutation of this report, which we print here with.

A Campaign Lie Nailed.

I am informed that a report has been circulated in the Pembroke district and other parts of Christian county to the effect that I endeavored to induce the Legislative Committee to take Christian county out of the Senatorial District with Hopkins county and put it in a Republican district with Muhlenberg and Butler. There is not a word of truth in this report. It is nothing more nor less than a campaign lie, put in circulation to injure me in my race for Congress. As proof of this, I append the following certificate from Hon. Henry R. Lawrence, who attended every meeting of the Legislative Redistricting Committee:

"To Whom it May Concern:—I was a member of the Redistricting Committee during the last session of the Kentucky Legislature and was Chairman of the House Subcommittee on Legislative and Senatorial Districts and was present at all meetings of both the House and joint Committees, and this is to certify that John B. Brasher never at any time mentioned the matter of Senatorial districts to me or to the committee of which I was chairman, in my presence, and any statements that he appeared before said committee and suggested the placing of Christian or any other county in any Senatorial District whatever is not true.

"HENRY R. LAWRENCE.

"Cadiz, Ky., June 24, 1902."

I cannot believe that the people of my native county will allow themselves to be prejudiced against me by the contemptible methods of the campaign liar. I was born in Christian county and have always felt the same interest in the county that I feel in my own. Nearly all of my relatives, both on my father's and mother's side, reside in Christian county and spend their money with Christian county institutions. And for twenty years I have fought the battles of Democracy in my county for each and every candidate that Christian has had for the State Senate. I made the fight of my life to elect Senator Crenshaw in 1897, and stand ready to do as much for the next Christian county man; and taking all of these things into consideration, it does seem as a matter of right that I should have Christian county's vote in this race. But if any voter in Christian feels that it is just to jump over me and vote for a man out of the Senatorial District, who is in no way tied to Christian county politically or otherwise, he can do so and not a murmur shall be heard from my lips, and when you put out a candidate in 1905, (which will be Christian county's time) you will find John B. Brasher at the wheel in Hopkins county ready to roll up a Democratic majority to carry him to victory.

It has been the ambition of my life to go to Congress, but the office is not big enough to induce me to tell a campaign lie on an opponent like the one herein mentioned. Truth and truth only is eternal. The lie cannot live and when it is dead there is none so poor as to do it reverence.

Respectfully,
JOHN B. BRASHER.

Critically; III.

TRIVIAL MOVE BETRAYED HIM

Little Things Often Put Detectives on a Criminal's Trail.

"Trivial incidents that in nine cases out of ten would escape a pretty close observer often furnish the clue by which detectives make some pretty clever arrests," said a veteran detective the other night to a Milwaukee Sentinel reporter. "Now, I remember one case in point. During the G. A. R. encampment here some years ago Sweeney, my partner, and I had been working hard all day and dropped into a 'joint' over on Second street about 11 o'clock. Sweeney took a seat on one side of the entrance and I on the other. The interior was screened to a certain extent by some potted plants on each side of the doorway.

"As we sat there an old fellow came in and a 'nigger' waiter rushed up to him, and, although we couldn't hear what was said, presumably asked him what he'd have. The old fellow didn't sit down in the chair that the waiter had pulled out for him, and while they were talking the waiter looked directly at me over the shoulder of the old fellow, who stood with his back to us. Without another word the old fellow turned and walked out of the door. We thought the incident peculiar and determined to follow the man. He started down Second street toward the Milwaukee road and we took the other side of the street and followed. On the east side of the street there was a saloon and we crossed the street before the fellow got there and stopped him at the door.

"'Good evening, my friend,' said Sweeney, smoothly, 'are you a grand army man?'

"'Yes,' he replied, as he eyed us suspiciously and backed away, with his hand making for his hip pocket.

"'What regiment?' asked Sweeney.

"The fellow hesitated, then, backing away, suddenly swung around and darted toward the railroad yards. I was after him in a moment, caught him by the coat tail and then it was nip and tuck for a block. I stumbled and fell heavily, but held on like a bulldog, and finally threw my man heels over head. I was sore and bruised all over, but managed to get up and give my man an awful blow over the nose just as he pulled a Colt revolver from his pocket.

"Well, to cut the story short, we found a bunch of 'the goods' on him, and early the next morning the chief of police at Janesville telegraphed to us to hold the man, as he was wanted there for burglary. We turned him over and he got three years in the 'pen,' where he died before his term had expired. If that fellow had sat down in that saloon we would not have thought anything of it, but that move of his 'queered' him."

ON PARROTS.

Apparently No Limit to Their Capacity for Imitation of Sounds.

There seems no limit to the capacity for acquiring the human language possessed by this intelligent bird. It often picks up not only words, but long sentences, which have been pronounced in its presence on a single occasion only. While as for domestic sounds of all kinds, from the whimpering of an infant to the crowing of cocks, and even the song of a canary bird, all these are readily acquired. The male is, however, given to screaming when angry or agitated. It sometimes associates words with things. One owned by Mr. Greene would yell "Potato!" if it saw a potato laid, so loudly that it could never be admitted to that meal, for it always dropped the potato and shouted for more. There is an idea that the brilliantly colored parrots do not talk. There is no reason why they should not, and many possess the imitative instinct. One of the most richly colored of all is the purple-capped lory, from the Moluccas. Its whole body is crimson and rose, its wings green and its crest purple. It is a thick-set bird, like a big bullfinch, and can be highly educated. It is tame and gentle, an excellent "linguist" and mimic, never shrieks, and is very amiable. It is also a ventriloquist. It is worth noting that some of the lories, which are very fond of flowers, have been poisoned by being given laburnum blossoms. There is a belief that parrots should not be allowed water to drink, but only sopped food. We believe that this is a mistake which causes them great misery. They are not great water drinkers, and some species can go without it for a considerable time. But in their native state most of those which have been observed come regularly to the water holes to drink.—London Spectator.

A Gentleman.

A man may be every inch a gentleman and not very tall at that.—Chicago Daily News.

STARVATION.

We shudder at the word starvation. It calls up in our minds a picture of some gaunt, famished man, who, in a land of plenty, perishes for lack of a crust. Such cases are rare. The commoner case of starvation is that of man or woman who eats but is not nourished; whose flesh wastes in spite of plenty of wholesome food. Loss of flesh is one of the sure indications of serious disease. It means a gradual starvation, not from lack of food, but because the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition being diseased cannot digest and assimilate the food received.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, so that lost flesh is restored and lost strength is regained.

"I was weak, nervous and dizzy, with a fainting sensation when walking," writes Mr. Jesse Childress, of Samuel, Sullivan Co., Tenn. "Could not walk any distance; always felt bad after eating; always uneasiness in stomach. Was taken down in January, 1898. Doctored with two or three physicians but they did not relieve me any. I grew worse and used everything I could think of; was nearly ready to give up and then some one told me that Dr. Pierce's medicine was good, so I began taking his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have taken seven bottles of that now and am as stout as ever, and enjoying health as much as ever before. My case was nervous dyspepsia and liver disease of which your medicine has cured me. In September, 1898 my weight was about ninety-five pounds, now it is one hundred and ninety-five."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets should be used with "Golden Medical Discovery" whenever the need of a laxative is indicated.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is commended by Statesmen, Professional men and thousands of others prominent in the world's activities, for its fine discrimination in sifting the actual news from conflicting reports and the presentation of current events in their just proportion. They comment on its freedom from daily-paper sensationalism. All men and women who want to know what the world is doing find it an intellectual necessity, to judge from the letters received from hundreds. Its editorials are comprehensive, and labor saving to the busy man or woman. Its timely contributions on important topics are by the best-informed writers. Its reviews of other magazines give the best of their best work. It is profusely illustrated.

These letters will enable all thoughtful men and women to judge of its value to them:

Don't Wait Until Fall TO BEGIN TO BUILD.

It takes a month or more to get the plan question settled, and the best houses can not be built in a hurry. A house built in the winter is seldom satisfactory, and a fall beginning means a winter ending. Furthermore, prices on all materials are generally higher in the fall. Then too, most people wait 'till then to build, and work brings a higher price when there is a great deal of it. Hence you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by building in the Spring and Summer.

If You Wish to Build This Year Build Now.
